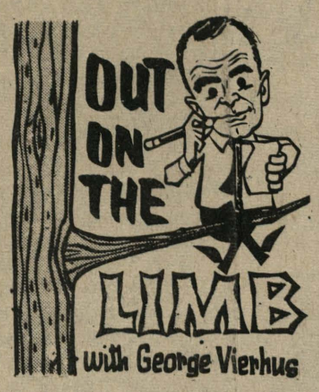
Serving the Hub of the West Valley Since 1895

Vol. 75 No. 11 Wednesday, March 15, 1967



A NUMBER of people have let us know that they were provoked by the Rev. A.D. (Kit) Carson's letter to us that appeared in last week's column.

You may recall that Kit criticized us for becoming irate over the appearance on a building next to the C. of C. office of the obscene four-letter word that was so popular during the free speech demonstrations at Cal.

Kit claimed, with some justification, we might add, that we were unfair in the implication that the obscenity was painted on the building by one of the local long-haired college kooks.

We admit that we did not see anyone actually doing the painting. If we had, we assure you, we would have led our own "demonstration" right on the scene then and there. We don't know what the results would have been, considering the shortness of our size and temper.

Chances are, however, that it at least would have been a real colorful paint-splattering affair.

PERHAPS THEN we were unfair to imply that any of the kooky, long-haired West Valley so-called "rebels" had anything to do with it, as the Rev. Carson suggested in his letter.

(However, in one letter to us this week the writer asked "when are people going to realize that they are judged by the company they keep." Another mentioned "birds of a feather" and another caller quoted a passage from the scriptures relative to the same point.)

Rev. Carson's far-fetched pitch that he had as much evidence to claim that "a little old lady who teaches Sunday School and plays first tambourine in the Salvation Army Band" was the culprit, as we did to imply that it was a West Valley College "long-hair," was an unfortunate allegory. He could have done much better.

The use of such an illustration to emphasize his point, sort of misfired.

But, if Kit wanted to upset his fellow clergymen in town, intentionally or unintentionally, by maligning the efforts of Sunday School teachers and the Salvation Army, he certainly succeeded.

The Salvation Army and Sunday School teachers are mighty well thought of institutions, Kit may be surprised to learn.

BUT IT WAS NOT the intention of this column to embark on any morals crusade when we vented our disgust about the four-letter word that appeared, regardless of who was responsible for it.

There is much more involved than the Rev. Carson's contention that we were being unnecessarily incensed over the "trivia of a four-letter word" and his claim that we instead should get "exercised over the real obscenity around us."

-0-

WE SINCERELY believe that only a tiny minority of the young

Auction this Saturday

Police put bikes on "block"

READY FOR A(U)CTION--Miss Donna Maynard, police clerk, and Officer Tom Clark, display a few of the items that will be auctioned by the Campbell Police Department this Saturday, March 18, at 10 a.m. at the rear of the city hall on Central Ave. (No, that motorcycle is not for sale.) Approximately 25 bikes and other items will be put on the auction block and go to the highest bidder.

The police hold auctions approximately every six months to dispose of items that have been recovered by the department and are unclaimed. According to Lt. Don Burr and Sgt. John Butler, who are in charge of the auction, in addition to the 25 bikes, an old set of golf clubs, a skill saw, two check protectors and a vacuum cleaner, will also be offered to the highest bidders.

Jaycees sponsor auto safety check this Saturday-Sunday

Campbell residents are invited this Saturday and Sunday (March 18-19) to have their cars checked at a special "automobile safety inspection" sponsored by Campbell Jaycees.

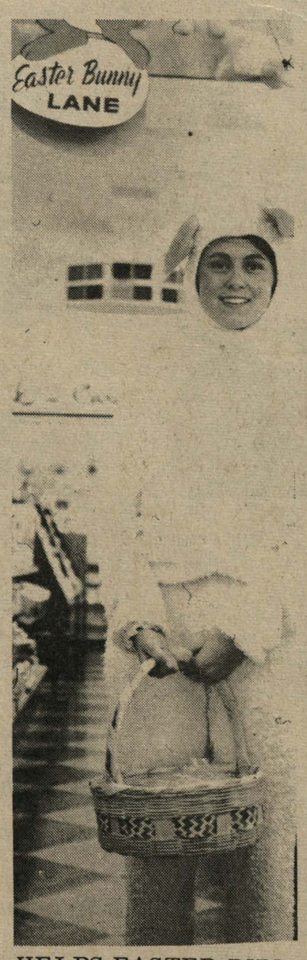
The Jaycees will set up their "check-point" in the Campbell High School parking lot, entrance off Campbell Ave.

The vehicle inspection is the first project of the year of the Campbell Jaycees and is being sponsored in conjunction with the National Safety Council and the Campbell Police Department.

There will be no charge for the inspection service that will be offered by Jaycee members which will follow a check-list furnished by the National Safety Council. Ray Boswell is Jaycee chairman.

Although the police will be present at the inspection, no citations will be issued and no corrections will be made. The inspection will be merely an advisory action, Jaycees emphasize.

A crew of Jaycee members will go over each car throughly to see if such items as the headlights, taillights, brakes, horn, exhaust system and windshield wipers are working satisfactorily.



HELPS EASTER BUNNY--The Campbell Drug and Pharmacy, located in the Campbell Center at Latimer and Winchester Blvd., in Campbell, will have a "helper" for the Easter Bunny. This year the Campbell Drug's Easter Bunny will personally deliver all gifts placed on order for Easter Sunday morning, according to the firm's officials.

Drive-in theater opens Thursday

City Council grants use permit that removes last road-block

More than a year of warfare between the City of Campbell and the Winchester Drive-In Theater ended on the late-late show Monday night when the City Council by a 4-1 vote granted the necessary use permit that would allow the theater to open.

After the vote which came past midnight and after almost four hours of discussion, Ray Syufy, of the Syufy Enterprises, owners of the theater now located in county territory off Union Ave. and McGlincey Lane, announced that the theater would show its first picture Thursday night (March 16) free to the public.

The granting of the use permit, which applies to the interim zoning now in effect on the property that is within Campbell's jurisdiction and on which the access roads are located, is the first legal step in the process that will eventually bring all the property owned by the theater into the city limits.

ANNEXATION

Syufy Enterprises have already filed a petition requesting that the 20-acre parcel be annexed to Campbell.

The action by the City Council on the use permit was necessary because the Planning Commission on March 6 had denied the application by the theater owners.

On Feb. 13, after the settlement between the city and the theater owners had been agreed upon around the conference table was ratified, the council adopted an interim zoning for the access-road portion which would allow the completed theater to operate with a use permit. The interim zoning is for a 90-day period.

The zone change was necessary to offset the court ruling which specified that the access-road portion was part of the theater and under Campbell's present zoning in effect, a drive-in theater would not be permitted.

COURT RULES

Campbell had taken the theater people to court when this city had failed to get the county to reject the theater. Under the county's zoning in effect, a drive-in theater is permitted.

In granting the use permit, the City Council included 18 conditions that had been recommended by city staff personnel and would apply to the property on which the auto-movie is located when it becomes part of the city.

Most of the conditions that have been suggested have received the prior approval of the theater owners, represented by Michael Di Leonardo, attorney.

OPPOSITION

Although most of the discussion during the

Drug use concerns school, police

The problem of drug abuse in Campbell schools is not going unnoticed, according to school officials and the Campbell Police Department.

A concerted effort is underway to "educate the educators, the parents and the students themselves, in the dangers of becoming involved with drugs," Campbell Police Chief John Morgan has reported.

Chief Morgan recently spoke to approximately 400 persons at Campbell High School, at an open meeting sponsored by the Campbell High P.T.A.

The chief pointed out that it was vital that the schools, the home, the community and law enforcement coordinate their efforts in attacking the problem. A strong warning was made to parents not to be misled by the sensationalism attached to the drug problem, as it is only symptomatic of a much deeper rooted ill.

He indicated his department would actively seek to prosecute any person who would encourage young people to become involved with drugs. His plea was to parents to unite with law enforcement to solve this problem.

PRINCIPAL SPEAKS

Robert Culp, Campbell High School principal, outlined the school's problems insofar as drug abuse with students enrolled at Campbell High is concerned.

"The problem of drug abuse in our schools must be viewed as a social and an educational problem. First we have attempted to educate the administrations of the six high schools and the District Office. The district has taken positive action to meet the problem on every front," Culp said.

Haskell Bowen, sophomore science teacher at Westmont High School, was recently appointed as a member of the district office personnel by the Board of Trustees to coordinate the efforts of the six schools.

The film "Hooked" has been purchased by the district and is being made available to the schools, P.T.A. and home and school groups in the community.

The faculty at Campbell recently heard a presentation by Chief Morgan on "Illegal Drugs, Their Characteristics and Abuses by Adults and Teenagers."

The school has held four assemblies where the film "Hooked", was shown, and heard a presentation by Chief Morgan. During recent weeks Culp, Jack Wagnon, dean of boys, and William Allman, director of education, spoke to every class in the school on a more personal, informal basis relative to the growing problem of drug abuse."

Culp further stated, "We feel this 'massive' educational approach has alerted our faculty, our parents, and particularly our students to the insidious evils of marijuana, L.S.D., the amphetimines and barbiturates so prevelant in our society today."

Campbell receives grant of $31,010 for planning

Congressman Charles Gubser reported Tuesday in a phone call from Washington to The Press that approval had been given by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for a grant of $31,010 to the City of Campbell.

The federal grant is under the urban planning assistance program to help pay for comprehensive planning for growth and development of Campbell.

Gubser pointed out that the project had been reviewed by the California state planning office and had been recommended as one of the better local planning programs to be undertaken with federal funds this year.

The HUD grant, which is payable to the state, covers two-thirds of the total cost of the planning work and will be supplemented by $15,506 in local funds. Staff time of city personnel involved in the work can be charged against the city's share, it has been noted.

The project is expected to extend over a two-year period and will consist of the preparation of a comprehensive development plan and measures to implement this planning in relation to zoning and subdivisions.

Congressman Gubser said that the funds were allocated under Section 701 of the Housing Act of 1954 as amended. He noted that these grants may be used by counties and small cities to help pay for planning work, involving base maps, analysis of land use, population and economic conditions.

High school district gets city ok to use old hardware store

By a 3-2 vote, the City Council on Monday night overruled the objections of the city's fire department and approved the use of the former Nelson Bros. Hardware building, at 275 E. Campbell Ave., by the Campbell Union High School District for three years.

The school district had been granted a use permit by the Planning Commission to use the building for offices for visual aid and other departments. The fire department, however, had ruled that the structure was substandard and hazardous and could not be brought up to the required code standards.

Monday night was the second time that the issue had been before the City Council. In its previous appearance at the plate, the council divided 2-2 on the question with Councilmen Bill Smeed and Homer Hyde, upholding the fire department, and Mayor Doetsch and Councilman Charlie Rose opposing.

The motion to defer action then passed 3-1 (Hyde dissenting) until Councilman Ed Rogers, who had been absent for five weeks, would be back in his seat to break the deadlock.

Dr. Rogers, on sabbatical leave from his position as political science professor at San Jose State, returned last week from a five-week Latin American trip.

Prior to the vote last Monday, the four councilmen reviewed their reasoning for Rogers' benefit, indicating they

There is a trend

Statistics in themselves can be dry and boring. They can also be extremely revealing of existing conditions.

And they also can be misread.

Yet we think it worthy of note to report on some statistics gleaned from the "Realty Review", published by the school of business at San Jose State College, for Spring, 1967.

The figures in the report, with respect to the apartment vacancy rates in Santa Clara County in the spring issue, are of special interest when compared to the figures in the previous fall publication.

We are not sure what it all means. But we thought you might be interested in them.

The fall report was based on an unofficial tabulation made at San Jose State College of some housing date in the 1966 special census of Santa Clara County.

High points of the findings were:

1. There are 288,000 housing units in Santa Clara County. Roughly 70 per cent are single-family units.

2. The vacancy rate for apartments (i.e. four-units up) is about 15 per cent or about 8900 vacant apartment units.

3. The 1966 apartment house vacancy is down slightly from the rate that existed in 1964. (Some cities such as Sunnyvale, Palo Alto, and Mountain View had experienced dramatic reductions in the vacancy rate in the two year period.)

4. Of the cities with more than 500 apartment units, in the summer of 1966, Los Gatos had the highest vacancy rate (20%) followed by Cupertino (19%), Milpitas (18%), CAMPBELL, (18%), and San Jose (17%).

5. The highest vacancy rate for single-family structures occurred in Milpitas and Alviso. The lowest in Santa Clara, Palo Alto, and Sunnyvale. The vacancy rate for single-family dwelling units in Santa Clara County was 5% or roughly 9000 vacant homes.

Now, we emphasize, those were the figures presented in the Fall, 1966 "Realty Review".

But in the Spring, 1967, "Realty Review" the picture had changed radically.

We quote:

"In New Study: VACANCY RATES DOWN DRAMATICALLY--

Vacancy rates for apartments in Santa Clara County are at the lowest level they have been for many years.

"This fact stands out in a new survey of apartment vacancies that was conducted at the School of Business of San Jose State College.

"In the last week of December, 1966, this survey indicated that apartment vacancies for the county stood at approximately three to four per cent compared to the 15 per cent rate that existed in April."

What really impressed us was the tremendous change in the Campbell picture in that short space of time.

Campbell's vacancy rate, according to the survey, was 18% in the spring of last year.

BUT in December, 1966, nine months later, the vacancy rate had fallen to a scant 2%!

Only Mountain View had a lower vacancy rate. CAMPBELL, Sunnyvale and Palo Alto were in approximately the same low category.

The City of Santa Clara had the highest rate (8%). Los Gatos had a 3% rate and San Jose 4%.

The survey noted also that apartment houses still having vacancies tended to be those that suffer from poor design, inferior construction or substandard maintenance. It also pointed out that the industry was enjoying the lowest level of vacancies that it has had for many years.

We have no idea just what all this proves.

We recognize, of course, that housing construction was down throughout the county in 1966. The downward trend for one-family houses started about 10 years ago and last year the construction of one-family houses was at the lowest level in more than a decade.

One of the obvious conclusions that can be drawn from the survey is that because of the slump in the building trade, the demand for housing finally caught up with the supply. For example, in 1966, only 1600 apartments and duplexes were built in the county whereas three years before more than 12,000 were constructed.

As we have noted, we have no idea just what should be "proved" by these statistics, outside of the fact that we may be approaching a more favorable sellers' market.

Yet we think there is enough meat in these cold figures, to make us all wonder about just what type of a community we are going to have in the future.

We are not overly concerned over the decline in the overall housing construction field. The county's population apparently is continuing to expand by the thousands, so housing will have to be provided.

But what we are concerned with is the type of housing that will be built.

This downward trend in single-family units apparently means that more and more multiples will be built.

Our question then is a very academic one:

Will apartment-house dwellers have the same feeling about the welfare of their community as do those members of that dwindling tribe who now live in single-family structures?

people today are involved in these attacks on the basic rules of decency.

We also believe, however, that any adult who condones the antics of this small but vociferous minority is doing a disservice not only to the "long-hairs" but to the society of which he is a part.

With respect to the appearance of some of these kooks, one letter-writer this week made this point: "I think their appearance tends to demoralize the individual and I resent their outward defiance of our basic rules for decency that have been established by our society.

"Every time I see someone fail to condemn those who defy our society, I get just a little upset. I guess I shouldn't let people know where I park my goat, but there it is."

ANOTHER LETTER was from the Rev. W.H. (Ben) Gould, of the Campbell First Methodist Church.

Ben was hard-hitting in his criticism of his fellow clergyman:

Here is the Rev. Gould's note to us:

"Dear George:

"From where I sit, the 'four-letter' word printed by ? is most distasteful and has much to say to those who pass by concerning the trend of the day.

"Thank God for the "little old ladies" who taught (and still do teach) Sunday School. Who else can do the work the Salvation Army is doing?

"But for the contribution of many of these little old ladies, many of us would be degenerate enough to be printing words --four letter or more--on public places.

"I agree--I don't like to hear them or see them when they are out of context and against our highest cultural values.

Ben"

ONE OF THE recommendations made by the panelists at the Congress for Community Progress and passed onto the Chamber of Commerce for "follow-through" action, concerned that horrendous intersection of Campbell Ave. and Bascom.

The recommendation suggested: "That, until the ultimate improvement of Campbell Ave. and Bascom Ave., temporary measures should be taken to improve this intersection."

Some of you may recall that when this column staged a "contest" to pick the worst intersection in town, the Campbell-Bascom monstrosity won going away.

WE DON'T KNOW what the C. of C. will do about it in any "follow-through" action because it seems to be the general opinion that until the building is removed that now causes the "jog" and Campbell Ave. straightened, there is not much that can be done to improve the situation.

Of course there is a certain unique but dubious distinction to the way it is now:

It is probably the only intersection in the county where you can make a right and left turn and still be going straight ahead.

And have the right-of-way over travelers on Bascom Ave.

Provided, of course, you are brave enough and don't mind a crumpled fender or two.

Chamber of Commerce expands board

Mayor Ralph Doetsch officially became an ex-officio (non-voting) member of the board of directors of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce at the board meeting last week.

The directors also appointed Arland Hatfield, manager of the First National Bank in the Campbell Plaza Shopping Center (Winchester at Budd), and Earl Nichols, of Campbell Drugs and Pharmacy in the Campbell Shopping Center (Winchester at Latimer) to the board as directors-at-large, each for one-year terms.

The appointments followed the adoption of two new by-laws by the Chamber of Commerce. To provide a closer relationship with the city and C. of C., one by-law change requested that the City Council name a councilman as an ex-officio director.

The other by-law change provided that a maximum of four directors-at-large could be appointed by the C. of C. directors to allow for representation from areas or professions, businesses or industries not presently represented on the board were standing firm on their previous actions. However, Hyde indicated that he would go along for a two-year lease, because by that time plans for improving Campbell Ave. should have materialized.

He voted against the three-year clause that Rose inserted in his motion for overruling the fire department. Rogers seconded Rose's motion but emphasized that at the end of three years the building would have to be demolished at the owner's expense without court costs to the city and that the city must be held harmless from any damage resulting from the building's use during the three-year stretch.

Smeed joined Hyde in opposing the motion.

OTHER ACTIONS

In other actions, the council granted Dr. Jack Hughes and Dr. Wayne Hopp their request to omit the electrolier that was included in the original plans for their medical center on Hamilton but never installed. The omission was discovered more than a year after the building was constructed. According to Kurt Gross, architect for the structure, a city official had approved the omission originally.

The council also approved the final map and agreement for a single-family residential tract northeast of Latimer and Darrell Dr. At the request of the applicant the underground utility requirement was eliminated as the tract was reported actually as a continuation of another tract in which the utilities are overhead.

Approval was also given the establishment of a local improvement district on Salmer Ave. and also two routine ordinances. The public hearing on the proposed text amendment allowing a drive-in theater in a M-1-S zone was set for April 10. (The Planning Commission last week had rejected this amendment so a new hearing had to be set.)

The public hearing on the proposed new sign ordinance, drafted by the Planning Commission in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce, was set for March 27.

At 1:20 a.m., the council decided to adjourn until Tuesday, March 21, in order to "catch up" on the agenda items that had not been discussed.

marks at the recent P.T.A. meeting, Culp reminded parents of their responsibilities to read all the information available on drug abuse; attend meetings when possible; get acquainted with your sons and daughters; know where your children are going and see that they keep reasonable hours; encourage your child to become involved in school activities; encourage church attendance; show an active interest in your child's education and "remember that the teen-ager today is just as full of doubts and is as insecure as we were in our day. Behind this psuedo-sophistication is a normal human being longing for love, attention and acceptance."

You come first at First National

We printed that nice and large so you'll remember it when you choose your next bank.

In a nutshell that's our theory of banking. It means our customers get pretty special treatment.

Some people think all banks are alike. Let's be candid. Some people hate banks. They think they're all cold and impersonal. Maybe you agree.

Well, you're wrong. And for your own sake, you ought to give us the chance to prove it.

Are you happy with your bank?

A lot of people aren't. But all they do is get mad about it. Which doesn't do them any good. What they (and you) should do is get a new bank.

You have a right to expect your bank to be careful. And keep your business confidential. And be polite. And not keep you waiting in line too long. And especially not make mistakes.

It's your money, isn't it?

Sure it is. And that's why you ought to get a bank that never forgets it.

We have just the bank.

In the past 93 years, we've learned this about banking: the best way to keep customers is to keep them happy. So that's what we do.

We need every customer we can get. After all, California has some of the biggest banks in the world. We're not bigger, so we've had to be better.

Looking after you.

We've had to look for lots of little ways to keep our customers happy.

Like having plenty of tellers on duty so you get your business done quickly. (Nobody likes to browse in a bank, and we know it.)

And we've arranged it so you do all your business at one window. Everything from checking accounts to paying off the car loan.

And we give you a monthly report on your savings account as well as your checking account.

And most of all, we're very fussy about not making mistakes. Our customers tell us we're pretty good. But we're never satisfied.

A lot of firsts.

Over the years we've scooped the others on a lot of new banking ideas. Like drive-up windows. We had the first ones. Ditto for electronic banking. Ditto for credit cards. We came out with them eight years before anybody else in this part of the country.

Maybe we really are different?

Our customers must think so. Or they wouldn't stay customers. They can leave us in a minute, but they don't.

We've lasted 93 years now, and grown to 19 offices with more on the way. (We may not be one of the banking giants of the world. But we're not exactly a midget either.)

It's our turn.

If you've tried other banks and you're not happy with them, we'd like a crack at you. We think we can make you happy.

It's time for you to come first with your bank. So come to First.

Donald Thurber, Diane Crabtree are married

Campbell friends of Donald W. Thurber will be interested to learn of his recent marriage to Diane M. Crabtree of Fremont. The young couple exchanged vows at the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel. Rev. Alexander C. Bryans officiated at the wedding ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wayne Crabtree of Fremont. For her wedding day Diane was attired in a short white lace gown with long, tapered sleeves and a shoulder length veil. Her bouquet of yellow baby roses was trimmed with lace. Judy Hennion of Mountain View was the bride's only attendant. She chose a yellow chiffon gown with a floral design and carried a bouquet of long stemmed yellow roses. Robert Martindale stood with the bridegroom as best man. John Crabtree, the bride's brother, ushered.

A reception for relatives and close friends was held at the Mark Thomas Inn in Monterey, where the couple cut a beautiful two tiered wedding cake. Following a honeymoon at the Highlands Inn in Carmel, they are now making their home in Mountain View.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

Since 1955 the United States has invested $4 billion in research and development of an Anti-Ballistic Missile System to protect the American people from an enemy attack. It is now a proven concept and is ready to be actually constructed. Even Secretary McNamara agrees it is technically feasible.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff have unanimously endorsed deployment of the system and for two straight years Congress appropriated the money to start construction. But Secretary McNamara refused to spend the money each time, arguing that a year's delay would not place actual deployment of a system behind schedule.

This year, in the face of another unanimous recommendation by the Joint Chiefs, he is still insisting that he will not start actual construction of the system. But this time, faced with the reality that a similar system is actually under construction by Russia, he uses a different rationale for his refusal. He says he would prefer to wait for the possible negotiation of a treaty with Russia under which both parties would agree not to build an ABM system. He argues further that a decision to build the system by the United States might trigger another all-out arms race.

It strikes me as more than coincidental that Premier Kosygin of the USSR made an announcement indicating willingness to negotiate on a possible treaty on the very same day that Secretary McNamara was scheduled to appear behind closed doors before our Armed Services Committee. I can't help but believe that we are being led down the "primrose path" by the Soviets who are already building their system.

Obviously they would not junk it, but would keep what they have while freezing us in our present position of having no missile defense at all. Furthermore, is it an arms race if we only match what the Russians are already building?

Several facts are important in this controversy. First, in a rare show of unanimity, all of our intelligence agencies--CIA, the Defense Agency, the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force--agree that the Russians are building an ABM system around Moscow.

Secondly, it is agreed by all persons that a complete system which would cost $2 billion a year for ten years would save upwards of thrity million lives in the event of an enemy missile attack. This amounts to $666 per life that would be saved. A much smaller system costing $4 billion over a ten-year period would save four million lives. This amounts to a cost of $1 thousand per human life saved.

Thus the maximum expenditure would be $2 billion per year which is about the cost of conducting the war in Vietnam for a single month!

It is ironic to me that we are able to spend $24 billion per year to save a nation of a few million people and can spend $300 thousand to kill each Viet Cong, yet Secretary McNamara refuses to spend one-twelfth of that amount to save thirty million Americans at the bargain rate of only $666 per human life.

I think Secretary McNamara is wrong and so does Congress.

California in 1966 registers 11.6 million motor vehicles

The Department of Motor Vehicles last year registered 11.6 million vehicles to operate on California streets and highways.

DMV Director Tom Bright said that vehicle registrations increased 3 per cent--from 11.3 million vehicles in 1965 to 11,672,305 vehicles on Dec. 31, 1966.

The increase in previous years was greater. In 1964, California experienced a 7.2 per cent increase. In 1965, the increase was 6 per cent.

Revenue from registration fees and license fees reached a new total of $364 million, up 7.3 per cent from 1965. Bright explained that one-half of this total is an "in lieu" tax based on the property value of vehicles. It is returned to city and county governments.

"The increased revenue also reflects the $1 per vehicle increase in the basic registration fee, which was first levied in 1966," Bright said. The added fee was authorized by the State Legislature to pay for doubling of the number of uniformed highway patrolmen. The fee increased by another $1 per vehicle this year, and a final $1 increase will be made in 1968.

Bright said new vehicle registrations dropped slightly from 1.18 million in 1965 to 1.15 million in 1966. New auto registrations dropped 3.8 per cent, from 890,200 in 1965 to 857,300 in 1966, while registrations for new trucks, trailers and two-wheel vehicles increased slightly.

Los Angeles led all counties in 1966 registrations with 4.1 million vehicles, followed by Orange, 727,383; San Diego, 659,870; Alameda, 596,643 and Santa Clara, 558,569.

Five counties recorded decreases in registrations: Alpine, Colusa, Del Norte, Madera and San Francisco.

Citizens in the West Valley Junior College District will probably vote on a campus-building bond issue in the June 7 primary election, if the county supervisors approve tacking the question on the already crowded ballot.

"Gasstationitis", that old bugaboo that apparently has no cure, concerned the Planning Commission on several fronts Monday night when the commission approved the application of Fred Chez and Lowell Grattan for a station at W. Hamilton and Marathon.

George Vierhus, editor of The Campbell Press, this week was awarded the first certificate of appreciation by the Campbell Police Department. The award was made in recognition of the support and cooperation the department has received from The Press.

The fifth high school in the Campbell Union High District, Leigh High School, located at Leigh Ave. and the Los Gatos-Almaden Rd., is nearing completion and will be opened to 1500-1600 students in Sept., 1962.

Ground-breaking ceremonies were held Tuesday for the Campbell Community Hospital located at 440 N. Winchester Rd. on property owned by Dr. Robert M. Wade, who presently has offices located at that site.

Plans were completed for the Old Settler's Day Celebration to be held May 25, 26 and 27, at a meeting of the 70th Old Settler's Celebration committee held last week in the City Hall.

10 YEARS AGO

One local resident, who has been involved for the past 22 years in problems affecting the Campbell Post Office, is remaining strangely aloof in the current controversy over the location of a new post office here. There is good reason for this. Postmaster Ira Grim is retiring this month.

It was "Ladies Day" at the Chamber of Commerce directors meeting Tuesday as three of the fair sex, Mrs. Eleanor Jacobson, Mrs. Emily McConnell and Mrs. Ann Levine, were named to important posts of the C. of C.

Adult residents of the Campbell area will be able to obtain polio vaccinations starting this Friday at two polio vaccination clinics that will be set up in this area.

15 YEARS AGO

According to W.E. Williams, Pacific Telephone District Manager, it would have been a lot easier to name a dozen new babies than it was to pick the prefix FRanklin 8 that will serve Campbell beginning late this year. Prefix names should sound pretty, says Williams, but they also have to work like robots in putting calls through.

Bruce F. Allen, San Jose attorney prominently associated with civic and veterans affairs in this valley since the war, today announced his candidacy for the 29th State Assembly seat, representing southern Santa Clara County.

Campbell voters will go to the polls Tuesday to vote for or against the incorporation of Campbell. The issue first attained prominence in June, 1951.

Campbell, Westmont auxiliary band units win state competition

Campbell Crier

by DAVE TURNER

Administrators met with Student Council members and Social Affairs Commission representatives last Friday to discuss the question of hiring "long-haired" bands for school dances.

Students claim that all the good bands in the area, the ones they really want to hear, are of the "long-haired" variety. No definite decision came out of the meeting, but it was agreed that the question should come up for discussion at a Student Council meeting after Easter vacation. A large turnout of students can be expected at this meeting.

Just as a reminder, the all-school musical comedy, "The Boyfriend", will be presented in the auditorium on Thursday and Friday, March 16 and 17, at 8 p.m. Cost of admission is $1.25 for adults and $1 for students.

In a near capacity slate of events, Campbell athletic teams had a mediocre week. In a non-league meet, all three track teams lost to Del Mar. In other non-league action, the golf team outhacked Overfelt, Soph-Frosh baseballers lost to Lincoln, the Freshman nine lost to Mitty, and the varsity baseball team came out on top of both Lincoln and Logan. In their first league meet of the season, Campbell's varsity mermen upset league powerhouse Blackford, while the B and C divisions lost their matches with the Braves.

This weeks action is highlighted by the track meet at Los Gatos Friday; also swimmers are at Los Gatos and varbaseball meets Soquel at Campbell. All events begin at 3:30 p.m.

Two schools in the Campbell High School District, Campbell and Westmont, came home with first place trophies awarded at the California marching band auxiliary units competition held in Fresno Saturday, at McClane High School.

The Pirettes, Campbell High School's precision drill team, won first place in their division, competing with seven other schools. The members of this group include Vicki Moraga, head; Dianne Crewse, Stephanie Rose, Jan McCall, Carol Benbow, Cathy Hughes, Sue McKay, Mary Labrador, Judy Alleyn, Patty Hebard, Fran Acken, Joyce Morgan and Diane Waldon. ## Combined high school choirs and musicians perform tonight

The Campbell Union High School Music Festival is set for Wednesday, March 15 at 8 p.m. at the Blackford High School gymnasium.

The annual event is free to the public, and will feature noted guest conductor Vincenzo Giannini, chorus master and associate conductor of the San Francisco Opera Company.

The concert features a combination of six a capella choirs from the district's high schools, totaling some 350 voices, plus an honor orchestra composed of the best musicians from each school, comprising about 100 instruments.

The program is composed of two large choral works for orchestra and chorus, including "Te Deum" by Verdi, and "The Gloria" by Vivaldi, great music considered so difficult that it is rarely presented at the high school level.

In addition, the program includes two very short works, "Overture, Gluck--Iphigenia in Aulis" and "Concerto Grosso" by Vivaldi, for string orchestras.

The choirs from the six schools and the combined orchestral units meet twice for rehearsals prior to all-day dress rehearsal Wednesday and the full concert that night, Allvin said.

Vocal soloists include Janice Willard, Gail Woodman, Julie Gable and Anna Tucker.

Warrior World

by RUSS LONG

Was leaving at 4:30 a.m. last Saturday morning to travel to Fresno for marching band auxiliary units state championships worth it? Westmont's flag girls seem to think so, they took first place.

After passing a complete military inspection at McClane High School, the girls performed to the overture from "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

When the competition had ended, and the trophies handed out, the girls boarded their cars and headed back to Westmont to perform a completely different routine at the Pops Concert, and to present the trophy to the school and Gary Kenyon.

To the surprise of all the girls and the competition, Westmont took first place for the second straight year.

Tonight is the music festival at 8 p.m. in the cafetorium. The orchestra will provide the music for the evening, and will feature Ingo Felder, German foreign exchange student on violin.

Friday, the third annual Battle of the Bands dance will sound from 8 to 11 p.m. Three bands have been chosen to battle it out. Admission is free with a student body card, and 50¢ without.

Friday also starts spring sports action. Westmont's track, swimming, and baseball teams all take on Saratoga. Swimming and baseball are away, while track is at home.

Drive-in theater opens Thursday

four-hour period centered around the conditions involving storm drainage and underground utilities, a final plea for the City Council to deny the use permit was made by Anthony J. Sota, of 2222 Central Park Dr., president of the Dry Creek Homeowners Association.

The homeowner group, made up mostly of San Jose residents who were unable to get the San Jose City Council to support their opposition to the theater, had fought alongside the Campbell contingent from the start of the theater fuss.

Sota argued that the city should not give up on its principles, maintaining that the "preservation of principles never comes cheap."

Jon Lawrence, of 281 Dallas Dr., supported Sota's stand by citing the horrible traffic snarls that exist now in the area which will be compounded with the theater traffic. "It is not poor planning," he emphasized, "but NO planning."

Lester J. Scott, 2272 Highland Park Dr., took the floor to exclaim, "We all know WHAT the theater promoters have accomplished in getting their way, it is HOW they have done it that concerns us."

SAHADI SPEAKS

Another long-time opponent to the drive-in theater, Fred Sahadi, owner of property adjacent to it, complained about the poor storm drainage facilities that had been installed which had caused flooding of his property.

Sahadi also questioned whether the theater owners would ever come into Campbell. He claimed that if the city approved the permit, there was nothing that would obligate the applicants to continue with their request for annexation. If it does operate, he maintained, it should be within the city limits and the City Council was obligated to see that the conditions were carried out.

Subsequently, in answer to Sahadi's claim that the theater people would not be obligated to annex, both City Attorney Joe Bonacina and di Leonardo took exception to that statement.

Bonacina said he was confident that the agreement had been made in good faith by both sides and that the entire legal situation had been set up properly. He added that, if this were not true, he would not care to practice law.

Di Leonardo agreed with Bonacina and further cited the law affecting annexations which does not allow withdrawals after application had been initiated by one property owner. He pointed out that the theater had initiated the request for annexation in this case.

CONDITIONS

In addition to ironing out the details in the conditions affecting storm drainage and underground utilities, the Council and the theater representatives agreed to the landscaping projects that had been recommended by Dick Hogan, city planning director.

These projects specified the type, size and location of the screening trees that will be planted. It was ruled, after discussion, that the trees on the northern line would be planted in an arc to screen the holding ponds that extended into the parcel.

The council agreed to allow the theater operators to use overhead utilities rather than underground, as only four poles were involved. The council also decreed that the large sign proposed for the theater must first be submitted to the state for approval based on the city's freeway agreement.

The one condition that gave the council the most trouble involved the storm drainage problems that had developed by the current heavy rainfall.

Involved in this discussion also was the action by the theater owners, who without approval or knowledge by the city, blacktopped the access roads within the city limits.

In his report on the storm drainage situation, Bill Wren, city public works director, maintained that blacktopping of the driveways had caused excess water to flow on Westchester Dr. creating a bad situation.

He admitted that he did not have a ready solution to that particular situation, but felt that the drainage problem on the north could be solved. He explained that a dike had broken on the north causing the overflow.

Vincent Raney, architect for the theater, said that the situation would be remedied. He added, also, that the theater owners had realized that they were blacktopping the driveways at their own risk but were anxious to get the show going and time was important to them. They agreed to be guided by the directions of the city's public works director in the correction of all the drainage problems.

The motion to grant the use permit was made by Councilman Ed Rogers, who stated that he had opposed the theater from the start but the city was forced to live with it. On the vote, Mayor Ralph Doetsch, and Councilmen Rogers, Charlie Rose and Bill Smeed favored the permit with Councilman Homer Hyde the lone hold-out. Rose also cited his long-standing opposition but felt that the permit now was necessary.

Gas stations face planners

Service stations will take the spotlight at the Planning Commission meeting next Monday, March 20, as three of the items on the agenda involved such activities.

One of the items is the continued closed hearing on the application of Saf-T-Way Development Co. for a station at E. Parr Ave. and Winchester. In a previous meeting, the commission, one member short, split down the middle 3-3.

No appointment has yet been made to the vacancy created by the resignation of Hal Lee, so there are still only six members.

Another gas station question involved the request of the Golden Eagle Refining Co. for a use permit to remodel and reopen the abandoned service station at E. Rosemary and Winchester.

Still another one involves the request for a zone change by J. T. Dawson at W. Campbell and Dot. Plans call for a service station at that location as well as 15 residential units on Dot.

Airman Oburn is part-time P.E. teacher

--airman teacher

There are not too many airmen in the military service who are part-time school teachers, but at Clark Air Field in the Philippines, Airman First Class Ron Oburn spends part of his duty day teaching at Wagner High School.

Oburn is a physical training specialist at the base gym. In the mornings from 7:30 to 11:30 he works at the gym in various sports activities and in the afternoon he exchanges his military attire for civilian clothes and strikes out for the high school.

At Wagner High he is not technically a full-fledged teacher, but he does have his own Physical Education class. To the boys in his class he is Coach Oburn, rather than Airman, which he says, makes him feel like a civilian. Airman Oburn attended Campbell High School in 1961, where he played halfback on the varsity football team. He then went to San Jose City College where he majored in physical education for two years before entering the Air Force.

Airman Oburn plans to teach physical education upon leaving the service and he says his work at the school and coaching experience will help him as a reference, and will also count as student teaching practice when he gets his degree. In the meantime he is spending his nights taking education courses at the University of the Philippines. Ron's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ken Oburn of 1106 Audrey Ave., Campbell.

"Clean-up" group meets tonight

An organizational meeting for the formation of a proposed Campbell Citizens' Committee for Beautification will be held in the City Council chambers tonight.

The meeting, under the direction of Councilman Ed Rogers, chairman of the council's civic improvement committee, will begin at 8 p.m. and will emphasize an April clean-up campaign, similar to last year's project.

Notices have been sent to various civic organizations, service and garden clubs, the Chamber of Commerce and the postal employee's group.

Rogers, however, stresses that the meeting is open to all residents interested in the beautification program for the city.

The City Council will also meet in a study session next Monday night to lay the preliminary groundwork for citizens involvement in the civic improvement and capital improvement programs planned for this year for which a bond issue will probably be presented.

RAIN DROPS

Rainfall over the weekend amounted to 2.42 inches according to Campbell Water Company records. This brings the total to date to 18.03 inches with normal recorded at 11.62 inches.

Last year at the same time a total of 11.65 inches had been received with only 12.03 inches for the entire year.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE
SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Q. My wife and I have been receiving social security benefits since we retired a couple of years ago. She has been recently offered a job that will pay about $75 a week, and she says she'd like to take it. I told her it isn't worth it because we will lose most of our social security benefits. Am I right?

A. Not entirely. Even though your wife may be receiving benefits on your account, your benefits will not be affected by her earnings. She would probably lose all of her benefits if she took the job, but you would continue to receive yours.

Q. I will reach age 72 in November. Does this mean that the $1500 limit will not apply to my earnings this year?

A. No. Although your earnings beginning with the month of November will not affect your benefit payments, if your annual earnings total more than $1500 for this year, you still could lose benefits for months in which you earned over $125 before November.

Q. I operate a business where tips are frequently given to my employees by our customers. What is my responsibility concerning tips?

A. Your employee is supposed to give you a report of his tips if they amount to $20 or more for a month. You report this on your quarterly tax return along with any other wages you report for him. You collect the entire tax due, now 4.4 per cent, from wages you owe the employee or from fund he provides and include that amount in the other taxes you send in to Internal Revenue Service. For more information about reporting tips you should visit the Internal Revenue Service or your Social Security Office.

Q. I hire farm help. What and when do I report for social security?

A. If you pay him wages of $150 or more in a year, or if he works for you on some part of at least 20 different days and is paid on a time basis, you must report his wages. By a time basis, we mean at a certain rate per hour, per day, etc. Your reports are due in January of each year for wages paid in the previous year.

Library will display medal winning books

Mrs. Joyce Vinson, children's librarian at the Campbell Library, reports that the Newbery and Caldecott Medal books for 1967 will be on display at the Campbell Library for two weeks, March 15 thru March 29.

This year the American Library Association has awarded the Newbery Medal for the most outstanding children's books of literary merit to Irene Hunt for "Up a Road Slowly." Eveline Ness will receive the Caldecott Medal (best picture book) for "Sam, Bangs and Moonshine."

The public is invited to see these outstanding children's books, along with the runners-up and the books which received these awards in past years.

Phone company breaks ground for new area business office

Ground was broken Friday for Pacific Telephone's new business office to serve Campbell, south San Jose and San Martin.

The structure will face on Leigh Ave. at Hamilton Ave. in the southern part of San Jose close to the Campbell city limits.

Attending ceremonies marking the groundbreaking were Mayor Ralph Doetsch of Campbell; George Vierhus, president of Campbell Chamber of Commerce, and Mayor Ron James of San Jose.

The 18,692 square foot building to be erected on the site will present a modern exterior appearance of glass, exposed redwood and concrete. The rectangular structure will surround a 1700 square foot interior courtyard.

Designed by architects Higgins and Root of Los Gatos, the building will be erected by owner-contractor Morris Daley and Son of Burlingame. Co-owner is George Fryberg of Hillsborough who will lease the building to Pacific Telephone.

Manager Lee Sicard, whose office staff presently is housed at 190 N. Fifth St., San Jose, will move with his 60 employees to the new quarters this fall. The exchange includes customers with prefixes of 371, 374, 377, 378, 379, 225, 227, 264, 265, 266, 269, and 683.

Sixty-four off street parking spaces are included in the design.

The office will serve the 58,223 customers currently in the Campbell, south San Jose and San Martin area.

Rotary club to hear speaker on "Laser Beam"

Light for communications, a futuristic plan to use simulated light beams to transport telephone and video communications, will be the topic of discussion for the Campbell Rotary Club at their noon luncheon on Monday, March 20.

Jim McCamish of Pacific Telephone will report on and demonstrate the recently developed "Laser Beam". McCamish will also show how light might someday be developed to carry the world's commercial communications as well as high speed video and data transmission.

The meeting will be held at the Grange Hall in Campbell.

OAK TREE PLANTING --Annette Gonzales of the Camp Belles Junior Garden Club assists in the planting of a little oak tree at Eastfield Children's Center as boys from the Center look on. Annette uses the "Teddy Roosevelt shovel" to fill around the tree. The planting was in conjunction with Arbor Day celebrations in Campbell, sponsored by the Campbell Garden Club.

Garden club tree planting for Arbor Day

Arbor Day was marked by members of the Campbell Garden Club and the Camp Belles Junior Garden Club by the planting of fledgling oak trees at Eastfield Childrens Center in Campbell. Annette Gonzales of the Junior Gardeners used the "Teddy Roosevelt Shovel" to fill around the young trees.

Mrs. Ward Brannon, Campbell Garden Club president, gave a reading about the oak trees while they were being planted. Acorns have been planted in small containers for future planting and civic beautifications by the Junior Garden Club.

The California Garden Club state convention will be held May 9, 10 and 11, in Santa Rosa. Junior Gardeners are preparing projects for their entries for state awards. Their projects include horticulture books, conservation and nature study reports, and civic beautification reports.

West Valley College okays parking lots

At a recent West Valley Junior College Board of Trustees meeting Dr. Wallace W. Hall, college president was authorized to explore with William Henley "the kind of contractual relationship that can be entered into" in order to retain Henley to provide informational services on legislation being considered in Sacramento.

Board members stressed they were interested in "information, not lobbying" so that the district may be aware of hearings or discussions of proposed legislation concerning the district. Other school districts are discussing a similar arrangement with Henley, former superintendent of the Campbell Union Elementary School District.

The Board examined an architect's sketch of a previously approved archway entrance for the temporary Campbell campus, to be located on the Latimer Ave. side, and related to the landscaping around the relocatable buildings being erected there. The archway is eight feet high by 20 feet wide and about 10 feet across, according to Chester A. Root, architect.

OTHER ACTIONS

The Board also:

1. Authorized a call for bids for two trucks, to accomodate expanded needs at both the Campbell temporary campus and the developing Saratoga permanent campus.

2. Approved renewal of existing leases for school and parking facilities, ranging from the Campbell Grammar School, used as the temporary Campbell campus, to buildings used as faculty offices and properties used for parking.

3. Authorized going to bid for an estimated $51,000 in furniture for relocatable buildings to be erected on the Campbell site.

4. Accepted with regret the resignation of Bert W. Barnett as chairman of the Division of Physical Education and head basketball coach. Barnett has accepted appointment as head basketball coach at Southeastern Louisiana College, in Hammond, Louisiana.

5. Added James H. Goss, and Mario Tarabini to the extended day faculty for the spring semester and authorized the hiring of Don R. Reasons, Geography, first new faculty member named for the 1967-68 school year. Reasons, holder of M.A. degree in geography, is presently teaching in Watsonville High School which received a commendation in 1964 for its geography program.
